Woodayogo

LAUNDRY DETERGENT SHEETS

These eco-friendly laundry sheets are made by Woodayogo, a Native- and woman-owned business founded by a member of the Shoshone-Bannock Tribe. They offer a sustainable alternative to traditional detergents. Made with biodegradable ingredients and plant-based fragrance extracts, they deliver a powerful clean and a naturally fresh scent without the use of harmful chemicals or phosphates. Versatile for top-load and front-load machines as well as hand washing, these sheets are gentle on clothes and the environment alike. Packaged in compact, zero-waste materials instead of bulky plastic jugs, which can take up to 450 years to decompose, they make every laundry day a greener, more sustainable experience.
